Johannes Vermelje<sup>1</sup>, (Immigrant), born 1631/2 at Leyden, Holland, son of Isaac and Jacomina (Jacobs) Vermeille, married August 27, 1670 at New York City, New York Aeltie Waldron who was born in 1651, died at Yonkers, New York in 1734. He was one of the original Patentees of Manhattan Island. Source Codes #10, #149, #175, and #404.

He died 1696 at Fordham, lived at Harlem until old; wrote his name Vermelje: brewer, Court Messenger, Magistrate; member Leislars Council and sentenced to death, but finally pardoned after 15 months in jail and an English court heard the evidence (they were really patriots); then apparently moved to Fordham, Westchester County, as his last 2 children Johannes and Johanan (John and Hannah) are not recorded as being baptized in the Dutch Church at New York, as all the others were; in fact the only record of them seems to be the 1698 census of Fordham which lists "widow Vermillion" with five children including those two. The others apparently married or working away from home; in 1690 was a witness on Louis Morris's will; married August 27, 1670 Aeltje Waldron; daughter of Resolved Waldron. Riker says he became rich in farms at Yonkers, but he never lived in Yonkers nor owned a farm.

Johannes Vermilye's worth was recognized by an appointment to command a military company in 1663. Later he served two terms as Magistrate. His house occupied a spot nearly central of the block between First and Second Avenues and 122nd and 123rd Streets. He was born in 1632 at Leyden. Coming to New Amsterdam in ripe man hood and uniting in his character the sterling traits of the French and Dutch, he was made Court Messenger in 1665, and Constable in 1667, being for this year also farmer of the excise; previous to which he had set up a brewery. August 27, 1670, then holding the position of Magistrate, he married Aeltje, daughter of Resolved Waldron; when he probably built upon land procured some years before, but which is first taxed in 1671.

Mr. Vermilye took a leading part both in civil and church affairs. In the Political Crisis of 1689, he was chosen one of the committee of Safety, which on June eight of that year appointed Captain Jacob Leisler to be "Captain of the Fort" and on August sixteenth, signed his commission as "Commander in Chief" of the province. Taking a seat in Leisler's Council Dec. 11th, ensuing, he was sent soon after upon a embassy to New Haven.

He continued a member of the Council till a sudden end was put to Leisler's rule by the coming of Col. Slaughter, March 20, 1691, by whose orders Leisler and his council (Vermilye included) were "committed to the guards" on a charge of high treason. The execution of Leisler and Milbourne, but two months later, seemed to Vermilye and his fellow prisoners similar fate. But after a painful suspense of seventeen months they were liberated by Governor Fletcher, on his arrival, and were pardoned by the King Feb. 20, 1693. Vermilye surviving this trying ordeal but a short period, as he was deceased in March 1696, his widow sold out his lands at Harlem in 1715 to her nephew, John Delamater, and died at Yonkers in 1734. The Vermelje and Waldron Families were members of the Harlem Reformed Dutch Church (also known as the Harlem Collegiate Reformed Church). Both Johannes and Resolved (Aeltie's father) served as Elders. In 1686, they were among the financial contributors and contract signers for construction of a stone church; referred to as the second church, a replacement for the first church, a plain rough, 2-storied, timbered structure built between 1665-1667. The corner-stones were set with considerable ceremony on March 29, 1668; the first stone being laid by Resolved Waldron and the second by Johannes Vermelje. The first service was held on September 30, 1686. During the Revolutionary War, the church was destroyed; the only surviving relic is its steeple bell, forged in Holland in 1734. ### DOLSEN

Sarah Vermilyea<sup>2</sup>, (Johannes<sup>1</sup>) born 1673, baptized October 4, 1673 at New Harlem, New York, married August 28, 1696 Teunis son of Jan Gerritsen and Garitje (Kray) Dolsen who was born September 5, 1664 at Harlem, New York August 30, 1766 at Dolsontown, Orange County New York. In some writings Teunis is referred to as Tuenis Van Dalsen, son of Jan Gerritson Van Dalsen of Warwick, New York. Source Codes #10, #62, #143 and #480.

Teunis, son of Captain and Gerritee (Kray, also known as Grey) Dolson, who was born in 1664 in New Harlem is credited with being the first male child born after Manhattan was ceded to the English by the Dutch. (Note: This indicates he was born in September or October of 1664.) He married Sara Vermilye, daughter of Captain John Vermilye, in New Amsterdam (New York) in 1696 and later lived in Westchester County and advancing to different localities up the Hudson River, finally locating in and about Goshen, New York, where is established the town of Dolsontown. He resided here until his death, 30 August 1766, at the age of one hundred and two years. The Dolsons of Orange County, New York, are his descendants. Some of his children were baptized at Poughkeepsie and others at Fishkill. The first house at Dolsontown was a log house loopholed for musketry and this was followed by a stone house which was used as a fortification as well as the block house when the Indians were troublesome and during the French and Indian War of 1756. Abraham Vermilyea<sup>2</sup>, (Johannes<sup>1</sup>) born 1679, baptized January 24, 1680, married _____. His will dated May 3, 1730, proved April 23, 1734. Resided Yonkers. Source Codes #9 and #10.

Abraham, with surname spelled Vermelje, was baptized in 1680. Source Code #247.

Source Code #180 visited the Westchester County Historical Society Archives and could not locate the Abraham Vermillie will that was abstracted by Pelletreau. He did come across his mother Altie's will. It was printed in a series published by The New York Historical Society before the turn of the last century, entitled Collection Wills. What is so interesting about the find is that Altie's will lists all of the children, and spouses of the daughters, witnesses and dates, as in Abraham's. It is obvious that Pelletreau made a mistake in his 1896 publication in attributing Altie's will to Abraham. This leaves us with the three sons, but without the daughters as presently in Abraham #6.

He was supposed to have been killed in the Esopus (Kingston, New York) War. He was living in 1730. Died without issue. Source Code #40.

While several sources offer detailed lists of his descendants, of the seven children listed under Abraham, six were, in fact, children of his parents. The only child not identified is Jeremiah.

Child:

12. Jeremiah.

Isaac Corssen Vermilyea<sup>2</sup>, (Johannes<sup>1</sup>) born in 1682 at New Harlem, New York, baptized April 1, 1682, married January 16, 1707 Josyntie, daughter of Joost and Maria (Sammis) Van Oblinus. His will dated March 1, 1748, proved March 5, 1767. Resided Yonkers. Source Codes #9 and #40.

Source Code #10: Josyntie was the widow of Teunis Corssen, who left her with a child, Teunis was living in 1741.

Source Code #62: Isaac was a farmer in Yonkers.

Jasyntie Van Oblinus was born February 19, 1685. Source Codes #113 and #137.

From the New York State Historical Society Collection - Abstracts of Wills Vol. VII 1766-1771: Isaac Vermillie of Yonkers, County of Westchester refers to his children as John the eldest, Isaac, Petrus, Maritie Teller, Aeltie Teller, Santie Valentine, Rebecca Dyckman and Hannah Odell. His son Petrus and son-in-law, Jacob Dyckman are executors.

Abstracts of Wills, Vol. VII, 1766-1771, available at Family Tree Maker Online, Page 413. In the name of God, Amen. I, Isaac Vermillie, of the Yonkers, in the County of Westchester, "being advanced in years and weak." I leave to my eldest son John oe5, over what I shall give him. I also leave to my son John my dwelling-house, buildings, and homestead and land, and one half of my salt meadow, and he is to pay to my executors oe300. I leave to my son Isaac the other half of my salt meadow, and 43 acres of woodland lying at Yonkers, not belonging to my homestead land, and he is to pay to my executors oe100. All the rest of my estate, with the sums named, I leave to all my children, John, Isaac, Petrus, Tunis Coursen, my son-in-law, and my daughters, Altie Teller, Maritie Teller, Santie Valentine, Rebecca Dyckman, and Hannah Odell, my said daughters being know by these names. My executors are to see that the division is equally and truly performed. Certain negroes are left to the daughters. My son Isaac is to have the liberty to live half a year in my house. If the sums of money are not paid, my executors may sell land. I make my son Petrus, and my son-in-law, Jacob Dyckman, executors. Dated March 1, 1748. Source Code #9: John (Johannes Vermelje) was a farmer. In 1717 Johannes of Fordam bought a farm at Yonkers from William Betts which was close to Kingsbridge, as Betts land was part of that formerly owned by Elisa Doughty; later he bought several additional farms, at death owning about 600 acres, which he distributed amongst his children; he must have been pretty well off financially, for he and Jacob Dyckman built a bridge for themselves across Harlem River. Will dated 1776; pr. 4/23/1782; m. 10/29/1712 Sarah Odell daughter of John Odell; m. 2nd Maritia _____, had 12 children probably all by first wife. His will began "John VerMille, of Yonkers" and was signed "John Vermilya", wife Martia gets household goods and 70 Lbs and use of any room in house so long as she remains widow; which indicates that in 1776 when the will was made she was still not very aged; she and Abraham and Fredrick were made executors.

Some of these removed from New York as early as 1762, John, Gerardus and David, before the revolution, removed from Yonkers to Lagrange, Dutchess County. They, in common with their children had now yielded their French Characteristics at least as to their speech, for it is known that John, called Honnes (Johannes) was wont to ask blessings in Dutch.

John Vermilyea<sup>3</sup>, (Isaac Corssen<sup>2</sup>, Johannes<sup>1</sup>) born or baptized April 7, 1714 at Yonkers, New York, married about 1736 Gerritje/Charity, daughter of Jacobus and Jannetie (Kiers) Dyckman who was born at Harlem, New York. Resided Kingsbridge. Source Codes #9 and #149, Tree #5605.

Source Code #91: He was living February 27, 1774. Charity and John were second cousins. John Vermilye is called "of Kingsbridge" by James Riker, but whether this description applied to him all his married life or only after he inherited his father's Yonkers farm is not clear. Isaac, his eldest son, was "of Fordham Manor" in 1756 according to his marriage license; was he then living with his parents? His second son, Jacob, died in the Borough Town of Westchester in Fordham.

It is difficult to trace a John Vermilye of this period for three of the name were then contemporaries in and around Fordham and Yonkers; John Sr., a rich Yonkers landowner, born in 1688 his son John Jr., according to Riker called "Hannes," whose name appears in Fordham Manor history and who moved to Dutchess County before the Revolutionary War; and his nephew John, Isaac's son, who married Gerritje Dyckman. John Jr., and probably John Sr., owned property in Fordham after the Dutch Church disposed of manor land. Our John, Isaac's son also may have been a landowner there but no information yet found identifies his as one of the Johns named in the manor history. He may well have been the John of the neighboring Borough Town of Westchester mentioned in a 1764 deed which concerned other members of the family as well as Jacob Dyckman Jr.

When John's father Isaac died (will dated March 1, 1748) his will was probated March 5, 1767. By it our John received, his father's house, buildings, homestead, and one-half and salt meadow, for which he was to pay the estate £300; his brother Isaac Jr., was left the other half of the salt meadow and forty-three acres of woodland in Yonkers not part of the homestead, for which he was to pay £100; the remainder of the estate was to be divided among sons John, Isaac, Petrus and Tunis Coursen (a stepson called son-in-law in the will) and daughters Altie Teller, Maritie Teller, Santie or Sarah Valentine, Rebecca Dyckman, and Hannah Odell (wife of John Odell of Fordham and mother of Abraham and Jonathan Odell who married Dyckman sisters." Jacob Dyckman, son-in-law, and son Petrus were named executors.

Gerritje's birth, marriage, or death records have not been found, but she signed the deed of sale for the Kiersen farm in 1763 with her husband and she is named in her father's will in 1767. Her parents were married June 6, 1716, and her brother Jan was baptized November 9, 1718. Was she born between these dates and did she marry fairly young, about 1734-35? Her husband was her second cousin, grandson of Aeltie (Waldron) Vermilye, sister of Gerritje's grandmother, Rebecca (Waldron) Dyckman.

Source Code #46: When my great grandfather died (whom I do not recollect) at Kingsbridge, he left three sons: Isaac, Jacob, William and perhaps daughters. Isaac being the eldest claimed the homestead at Kingsbridge, by right of primogeniture, according to the English law; although he had his farm and was living at Yonkers. Jacob, who lived on the homestead with his father, contested the right and finally agreed to buy the Kingsbridge farm from his brother and spent his life there with his family. But of that large property, not an acre is now owned by any of the name, Jacob's family having exhausted and used it up.

DYCKMAN

Rebecca Vermilye<sup>3</sup>, (Isaac Corssen<sup>2</sup>, Johannes<sup>1</sup>) born about _____, married about 1736 Jacob Dyckman son of Gerrit/Garret Dyckman, died between 1760 and 1762. He died about 1765. He was named executor of her father's will in 1748. He was the first male Dyckman to make his home north of Manhattan Island. He may have left Harlem for Philipsborough about 1741 as he was Constable in Harlem in 1739-40. His second child and first son, was baptized on June 6, 1741 in the Old Tarrytown Church, and named according to custom, after his paternal grandfather. The date, June 6, 1741, seems to indicate that his parents had moved to Philipsborough by that time. Source Codes: #9, #10, #62, #91, and #476 (page 763).

John (Johannes) Vermilye<sup>3</sup>, (John<sup>2</sup>, Johannes<sup>1</sup>) born about 1720 at Yonkers, New York, married twice, his second wife, Jacomina, daughter of Benjamin and Jannetje Reyera Corsa/Corsse by whom he had two children. He died _____. Sources Codes #9, #10, #40, #62, and #138.

It is believed that John and Jocomina had more than two children.

Source #40: They moved to Dutchess County, New York. He served in the revolutionary War.

The Tax List of Fishkill, New York, shows that a Johannis Vermilyer paid taxes in that town from 1760 through 1779. Because John's brothers were living there at the time, it is believed that Johannis is this John.

Abraham Vermilye<sup>3</sup>, (John<sup>2</sup>, Johannes<sup>1</sup>) born about 1716, married Mehitabel _Betts?_, who was born about 1728. Abraham was a farmer having inherited about 100 acres in Yonkers from his father. He died in 1784, at Yonkers, New York. Source Codes #9, #10, #40, #62 and #149 (Tree #3475).

Source Code #40: Abraham Vermilya born probably about 1716, married Mehetabel _____, the name being accepted on the authority of Mr. Thomas E. Vermilya, as it is given in Riker's History of Harlem, and supported by concurrence of the name in the families of her sons William, Abraham and Edward. She is not mentioned by name, but simply as his "beloved wife," in his will which was executed, February 13, 1762, and proved, July 20, 1784, the year of his death. His sons John and Edward were his executors. He was bequeathed, beside other devises by his father's will, the homestead of one hundred acres at Yonkers.

Source: Family Tree Maker Online: Genealogy Library: Abstract of Wills, Vol. XII, 1782-1784): Abraham's will: "In the name of God, Amen. I, Abriham (sic) Vermilya, of the Yonkers, Westchester County, yeoman. I leave to my beloved wife one third of my estate as long as she liveth. Abstract of Wills, Volume X, 1780-1782, page 106: In the name of God, Amen. I, Joshua Vermilya, of the County of Westchester, yeoman, being very weak in body. All my just debts and funeral charges to be paid and fully satisfied. I leave to my dearly beloved wife as much of the household furniture as she shall think proper; Also my negro wench Sarah; also oe150, payable one month after my deceased by my executors, they also to pay unto her as much money as will purchase her a decent suite of mourning apparel. Unto my son Thomas oe10 when twenty-one. The lands and meadows that was left between my brother Frederick Vermilya and myself, by my father, to be divided as soon as possible and the part falling to my estate be sold. In case it should appear to my executors that the monies arising from the sale of my lands shall be better applied in purchasing a place that may serve for the support and bringing up my family and children better than putting the money to interest, they to do either they may think best; should they purchase a place as aforesaid, then the place so purchased to be sold when my son Thomas becomes twenty-one years of age. My executors shall, immediately after my deceased, dispose of my negro wench, Jane, my negro boys, Pomp, Yaff, and Squire, and my negro man, Jack, to the best advantage they can; likewise, my part of the crop of wheat I have sown on the farm of Mr. John De Lancey, when they shall think it most advantageous. I would wish and desire that my negro man John may remain with the family for the support and bringing up of my children as long as they keep a place or farm, and to be disposed of when the place or farm is disposed of. Unto my daughter Anna oe25 when she becomes eighteen years of age. The remainder of my estate to be divided between my four children, vizt: Thomas, Isaac, Anna and Polly, as follows: Two thirds to my two sons, the remaining third between my two daughters. I make my truly and loving friends, Abraham Volentine, and Gilbert Volentine, executors. Dated, October 3, 1782. Witnesses, Isaac Valintine, John Vermilya, and John Cregier, physician. #### WHERTS

Her father's will dated June 11, 1776 states "my executors to take charge of Rebecca's share, to be put out at interest for the benefit of Rebecca and her children, and to be paid to her as executors see fit". It would appear from this that Rebecca may have been a widow with more than one child at that time.

Child:

- I. Joshua, born 1770.

KORTWRIGHT

York, New York, died about 1775 at New York, New York. Aeltie born circa 1730 at Yonkers, New York (other records say she was born in 1702). Source Codes #9, #40 and Dutch Reformed Church records.

Child:

I. John. (Per Source Code #28).

Benjamin Vermilye<sup>3</sup>, (John<sup>2</sup>, Johannes<sup>1</sup>) born 1738, married Elizabeth_____. Benjamin born about 1730, probably at Yonkers, New York and died after 1776. He served in the Revolutionary War. Source Code #40.

In 1775 He resided in Philipsburg. He was commissioned First Lieutenant in the East Philipsburg company of militia October 19, 1775 and Captain October 23, 1776. On December 13, 1776 he was charged as being a loyalist. The Committee for Conspiracies meeting at Connors Tavern at Fishkill read into the minutes a letter from General Wadsworth to General Spencer relative to a Number of Tories he had apprehended by order of General Lee. The named prisoners were described as being notoriously disaffected to the American Cause ... and should be removed to one of the neighboring States. Included on the list of twenty-four names were those of Benj. Vermiljea, Capt. and John Vermiljea. On December 26, 1776 the Committee for Conspiracies received information that on the night of the 19th of December the following Persons had effected their Escape from the Guard House; Benjamin and John were among the sixteen named. On his escape Benjamin fled to New York City which was then controlled by the British. His property was seized by the Commissioners of Sequestration and leased to Wm. Duvon. In 1784 Benjamin is listed on Rent Rolls of Philipse Manor, 1776-1784. Sources: Minutes of the Committee For Conspiracies, December 11, 1776 - September 23, 1778, to which is Appended Minutes of the Council of Appointment, April 2, 1778 - May 3, 1779. Children:

*73. Elizabeth.

*74. Aeltje.

75. William, born _____, died _____.

David Vermilye<sup>3</sup>, (John<sup>2</sup>, Johannes<sup>1</sup>) born about 1734, married Patience Leavens who was born November 30, 1745, died _____. He was a soldier in the Revolutionary War. They lived at Fishkill, Dutchess County, New York. He died circa 1792. Source Codes #10, #57, #62, #81, #141 and #143.

Patience was the daughter of Peter and Catherine (Caston) Leavens. Source Code #143.

(Note: Son Benjamin (#73) was born in 1759. Patience would have been only 13 or 14 years old that year. Was he Patience's son, or was David previously married? Son David (#74) was born in 1765 when Patience would have been about 20 years old. Source Code #81 shows that Patience married Vincent Vermilyea. Could David and Vincent have been the same person?)

There is a David Vermilyea listed on the 1790 Federal Census at Fishkill, Dutchess County with a total of seven males and four females in the household. Several households up is Girduras Vermillia with a total of four males, five females in the household. Living next door to David is John Vermilyea with one male and two females.

Tax List, Fishkill, New York: David Vermilyer paid taxes from 1765 through 1779.

Deeds, Fishkill, New York: #11:338, 8 April 1792, David Vermilya and Patience to Gerardus Vermilya, 231 acres lot on line of Fishkill and Beekman conveyed by will of father, late John Vermilya to sons.

There are several unidentified males that could also belong in this family. Could also be a daughter Mary, born about 1760 who married Stephen Soames (Sommes, Somes) about 1784 and lived at Fishkill, listed on same page on the 1790 census, later moved to Saratoga, Saratoga County, New York. They were the parents of 10 children including a David and Patience.

Elizabeth died January 29, 1825. Source Codes #1, #10, #62, #150 (Tree #0756) and Greene County, New York records.

Source Code #1: Elizabeth Vermilyea married May 5, 1793 Gardus Wilsey at Presbyterian Church, Greenville, Greene County, New York. It would appear that daughter Elizabeth would have been to young to marry in 1793 - could Joseph have died and Elizabeth married second Gardus Wilsey? Note that daughter Catherine married in 1804 James Willsey. Greene County, New York records: Gardus Wilsey and Elizabeth Vermilyea, both of Coxsackie, married May 5, 1793.

1790 Federal Census New York Westchester, Cortlandt: Joseph Vermilya. 1 male, 4 females. This is the only Joseph on the 1790 Census. There is no Joseph on the 1800 Federal Census.

Isaac Vermilyea<sup>4</sup>, (John<sup>3</sup>, Isaac Corsen<sup>2</sup>, Johannes<sup>1</sup>) born about 1735, married April 2, 1756 Susannah, daughter of Jacob Myer/Myers, died in 1800. Lived in Harlem. Source Codes: #9, #10, #62, #91, #248 (New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, page 200, 1871 edition, Marriage I.D. 2220268871) and #476 (page 763).

Source Code #91: Isaac, born about 1735, died in 1800 when of Yonkers, married April 2, 1756, when of Fordham Manor, Susannah Myer, probably daughter of Jacob Myer. In 1760 when he bought the Archer farm from Jacob Dyckman Jr., he was described as "late of Croaten, farmer". His son Isaac, born July 14, 1769, and died December 11, 1855 married Jane (Odell) Honeywell, daughter of Jonathan and Margaret (Dyckman) Odell and widow of John Honeywell.

Source Code #10: They lived in Yonkers.

Children:

Jacob Vermilyea<sup>4</sup>, (John<sup>3</sup>, Isaac Corrsen<sup>2</sup>, Johannes<sup>1</sup>) born 1740 in Westchester County, New York, married first April 10, 1766, Susannah (Maretje) Dyckman, married second (Marriage bond June 15, 1773), Mary Dyckman who was born June 2, 1752, died February 23, 1826. He died January 31, 1814. They are buried in the Nagel-Dyckman Cemetery. (Note: Some persons originally buried in Dyckman-Nagel Cemetery in New York City near the northernmost end of Manhattan Island were removed to Woodlawn Cemetery in 1926. Of these 417 burials only 67 could be identified). Source Codes: #9, #10, #62, #247 (New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, 1890 edition, page 82), #476, page 727.

Source Code #91: Jacob Vermilye lived in Fordham Manor, Philipsborough Manor, where he first rented and later bought a manor farm, and perhaps in 1779, he was in Cortlandt Manor on the tax list, Middle Ward. When he signed the Oath of Allegiance, October 31, 1781, he was of Philipsborough. By 1800 he had returned to Fordham to live in the Borough Town of Westchester. A deed of sale disposing of twenty-seven acres, to James Bathgate for $1227.32 documents his residence there and names members of his family; John Vermilye of Yonkers and wife Rebecca; Garardus Vermilye of the Town of Westchester, farmer; Jane Vermilye of same place, spinster; Jacob Cregier of same place (for Jacob's daughter Susan), Maria Vermilye, widow of Jacob, formerly of same place, farmer, deceased. Jacob had two children by his first wife (John and Garardus) and seven by his second (William, Susan, Isaac, James, Michael, Jane and Rebecca).

Source Code #91 continues with information on Mary Dyckman. Mary and her cousin Jacob were married before the Revolution and may have lived for a short time in Fordham, his home. Probably about the time her father left Manhattan, Vermilye took his family into Westchester County. He seems to have settled in Yonkers, perhaps on the farm which after the war he bought from the Commissioners of Forfeiture. This farm was bounded on the east by the Sprain and was a favored stopping place for Westchester Guides on their way to or from raids on Loyalists based in Morrisania or Fordham. At such times Mary must have had the pleasure of entertaining her brothers Abraham and Michael and perhaps Jacobus. Vermilye was described as of Philipsborough when he took the oath of Allegiance to the United States, October 31, 1783. In the 1800 census however, he is listed as head of a family in Fordham and in 1801 he was recorded with his brother-in-law Jacobus Dyckman as a trustee of the Fordham Reformed Dutch Church.

There is a group of 15 family members who were buried at Brookhaven, New York, from about 1802 to 1873. There exists today a Brookhaven, New York, on Long Island (near Mastic). Research indicates, however, that these family members resided in Yonkers and Fordham Manor, New York; and thus, there is doubt that they would have been buried way out on Long Island. This raises the question: was there another Brookhaven in the early 1800's? Research is needed. The family members, followed by their number, if known, and year of burial, were: Grandus Vermilye, (#106), 1823; Jacob Vermilye, (#42), 1814; Jane Vermilya, (#113?), 1855; Jane Rebecca Vermilye, (?), 1855; Joanna Vermilye, (#120), 1873; John Vermilya, (#105?), 1825; Mary Vermilyea, (?), 1802; Mary Vermilya, (?), 1826; Mary Vermilye, (?), 1835; Mary Vermilye, (?), 1847; Rebecca Vermilya, (#114?), 1828; Rebecca Vermilya, (wife of #105?), 1850; William Vermilye, (#107), 1822; William Vermilya, (#43), 1822; and William W. Vermilye, (#117), 1849. Source Code #247.

*112. James.

113. Jane, died unmarried. There is a Jane Vermilyer in the household of William and Jane Vermilyea Smith (#282) in 1850. Relationships are not listed on this record, she is listed as age 58.

114. Rebecca, died unmarried.

William Vermilye<sup>4</sup>, (John<sup>3</sup>, Isaac Corssen<sup>2</sup>, Johannes<sup>1</sup>), born April __, 1749, married first April 10, 1773 Mary Brown (Bolton says Forbes, others say Brower) who probably died about 1778, he married second Mary Taylor who was born in 1754, died 1847. He died March 8, 1822, buried in the Dyckman Old Dutch Cemetery, Harlem. He was reinterred in 1926 in one of the common graves in the Woodlawn Cemetery plot. There is record at the Christ Lutheran Church, New York, New York of William Vermilya marrying April 10, 1773 Mary Brower. June 1776: William was included on a list of 106 names as a fireman in New York City under the command of Jacous Stoutenburgh. It is clear from this source that these men were formed as a separate company of militia for the preservation of the city in case of invasion. October 16, 1776: With the British now firmly in control of New York City, William was one of 948 inhabitants of New York City, along with John Vermilyea, to sign a pledge addressed to "Admiral Lord

Richard Howe and General Sir William Howe expressing loyalty to King George the Third and praying that they (the Howe's) would restore this city and county to His Majesty's protection and peace."

Source Code #91: William Vermilye was a builder by trade. He built Boscobel, (for more information about Boscobel check www.Boscobel.org) his cousin States M. Dyckman's mansion on the Hudson. No formal plans have been found, so evidently the two worked out the design together. From 1812 until his death he was a surveyor for the Eagle Insurance Company.

Source Code #10: Went to New York as early as 1792, was a builder, and from 1812 till his death surveyor for the Eagle Insurance Company. He died March 8, 1822, aged 73 years, 11 months.

Source Code #46: William, our grandfather, was the youngest son and had no part in the farm. He avoided all controversy about it, and I imagine inherited very little from his father. He had learned the trade of builder and built many of the first houses of that day both in the city and on the river; acting as architect as well as builder. They have "owned vessels", but in his later years was engaged in the Chief Insurance Company of the city as their investor; and that may have given you the idea that he was connected with shipping. He was a very handsome man; but better than that he was a man of high character, and honest, simple-minded Christian respected and beloved by all who knew him. I recollect him; for he died after I went to Yale College. He had a first wife from whom was one daughter Nana; Mrs. Choidavoye (long deceased); who had a good many descendants. A second wife was our grandmother, by whom he had William W. (my father), Thomas B., and Robert; and a daughter Joanna (Mrs. G. B. Smith) still living in Newark, New Jersey with her daughter, Mrs. Rockwood, aged 83. She has had several children; and one son and four daughters yet live in or near this city. She was the youngest of the family. Grandmother (referring to Mary Taylor Vermilye) died at the house of G.B. Smith (husband of daughter Joanne) with whom she lived many years ago at an advanced age. She was a Christian woman and of a good deal of cultivation.

HUNT

New York, died September 16, 1824 at Florida, Montgomery County, New York. She died _____. Source Codes #9 and #149. Source Code #519 shows her name as Santje Cynthia and Cynthia Rosina.

Timothy Hunt, who was a soldier in the war of the Revolution under General Abercrombie in an attack on Fort Ticonderoga, and who finally located in Tryon county (now Florida, Montgomery county), N. Y., where he died. During the Revolutionary period Timothy Hunt and his family were among the sufferers by the Tories and Indians under the leadership of William Butler and Joseph Brant, a Mohawk sachem. On the morning of November 12, 1778, after the Indians had accomplished the destruction of Cherry Valley and the surrounding country, they finally reached the settlement of Chucktenunde Creek in the town of Florida. Mr. Hunt's buildings were burned and most of his stock was killed, the remainder escaping to the forest, while himself and family were saved by concealing themselves in a neighboring ravine, closely filled with elders, willows, and thick underbrush. His wife, Susanna Vermilia, was of French descent, and of their ten children -- five sons and five daughters -- Isaac, who was born in Florida, Montgomery county, married Polly Kinney, of the same place. Rev. Robert Hunt, 2d, son of this Isaac and grandfather of Dr. James G., was born in that town November 25, 1792, being one of twelve children. He married Margaret Johnson of Columbia, Herkimer county, N. Y., and began preaching in the Free Will Baptist denomination as soon as he reached manhood, first in Warren, Herkimer county, and afterward in Columbia, Schuyler Lake, Whitmantown and Southville. In 1852 he removed to Troy, O., and in 1853 to China, Wyoming county, N. Y., where he remained twelve years. His health failed and he subsequently made his home in Hudson, Mich. In 1871 he came to the home of his son, Dr. Isaac J. Hunt, of Utica, where he died December 7, 1872. Rev. Robert Hunt had ten children, five of whom were sons, and all of them became physicians. One of these, Dr. Isaac J. Hunt, father of Dr. James G., was born in Warren, Herkimer county, N. Y., March 27, 1820, and married Mary, daughter of John Ingersoll, a farmer and manufacturer of Ilion, Herkimer county, N. Y. He was graduated from the Castleton (Vt.) Medical College, became a successful physician, and practiced his profession for nearly thirty years in the city of Utica, where he died January 25, 1875. He had two sons: Dr. James G., the subject of this sketch, and Loton S., who was born in Utica in 1852, read law and was admitted to the bar, and was appointed by President Harrison United States consul to Guelph, Canada, whence he was subsequently transferred to Palmerston, Ontario, Canada, where he still resides and officiates in that capacity.

Philip Vermilyea<sup>4</sup>, (Peter Martin<sup>3</sup>, Isaac Corssen<sup>2</sup>, Johannes<sup>1</sup>) born 1758, baptized September 6, 1758, married Rebecca Elliott who was born about 1762, died January 1, 1834. He died September 27, 1821, also reported as February 11, 1826 at New York City, which is most likely correct though DAR Pensioners Ledger lists his death as June 11, 1826. Source Codes #9, #10, #62 and #247 (The 1841 Pensioners List, New York State, Page 180; and New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, 1942 edition, pages 191 and 192).

He was baptized at the Old Tarrytown (Dutch) Church, Jacob and Rebecca Dyckman, sponsors.

DAR United States Pensioners 1818-1872 ledger of payments for death date states he dies 11 June 1826 and pension was stopped

(Notes: 1. According to Source #247 (1790 Census, pages 197 and 198), in addition to Philip and his children, there were 3 other Vermilya men living in the town of Courtlandt, New York, in 1790. None have been positively identified; but, most likely, they were closely related. They were: Isaac, John and Joseph. 2: According to Source #247 (New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, 1942 edition, pages 137, 139, 191, 192 and 193), there were 14 family members in Courtlandtown, New York, from 1781 through 1801. They were either shown as living or being baptized there. They are most likely all related. In addition to Philip and his children, there were: Aalje Vermillier, could be #57 who was living there in 1781; Aeltie Vermillier, could be #57, who was living there in 1783; Polly Vermilie, could be #158, who was baptized there in 1795; and Mehitabel Vermilye who lived there in 1801.)

Per Source Codes #28, #29 File S-42,578: Enlisted Courtland Manor, Westchester County, New York in March 1782 and served for nine months as a Private under Capt. Thomas Hunt's Company, Col. Weisenfels, New York Regt. Pension allowed on application executed July 9, 1819 when he was a resident of New York City and aged 61 years. Then, in 1821, family consisted of a wife and twelve children - Nathaniel, Betsey, age 17, Jane, age 15, Silvester, age 14 - are the only names that are mentioned. His pension, though approved in 1819 nothing happens until September 27, 1821 when his application surfaced accompanied by a handwritten note which said that the papers were misfiled at the clerk's office. On this application Philip's assets are listed: one loom, $10.00; two chests, $2.00; one table, $1.50; six chairs, $2.00; three iron pots and a tea kettle, $3.00; six pewter tea spoons, 12 cents; six tablespoons, 50 cents; plates and dishes $1.00; three jugs, 50 cents, andiron, shovel and tongs, $1.00; knives and forks, $1.25. Total: $22.37. In the petition he says that he is a rug (?) weaver and is unable to work. His signature is very shaky. In 1823 his monthly pension payments commenced. The "Pension Certificate", beginning on March 1, 1823, gives Philip monthly payments of $8.00. On September 4, 1823, he was paid $49.00 in back payments, he was 65 years old at this time.

Longworth's New York Directory lists him in 1817-1824 as a carpet weaver. He is listed in 1826 with no occupation, in 1827 Rebecca is listed as widow of Philip. They lived at 51 Orchard St.

They probably died at Ontario, Canada. Source Codes: #9, #10, #62, #76, #81, #83 and #138. (Source #76 states that Peter and Mary were wed in 1793).

About 1800 Peter moved his family from the Catskill Mountains in New York State to Beach Ridge, near Montreal, Quebec, Canada.

From a Letter of Guardianship recorded in the Surrogate Court, Utica, New York, dated November 13, 1815: Walton Vermilyea 18 years on the fifth Nov. Inst., Son of Peter Vermilyea, late of town of Whitestown, Oneida county, deceased. On his petition, allow John Sharp of town of Whitestown, county of Oneida to be his guardian. Seal November 13, 1815. Birth date calculated using this information would be November 5, 1797. (Note: Information published in John Warner Barber's Connecticut Historical Collections, published at New Haven in 1838 states: Whitestown in 1810 comprised then almost all the western section of New York State. It would be difficult to determine exactly where this family was in 1815. This does indicate that Peter was deceased by November 1815.)

Per Source Code #28, 29, File # W-2462. Pension application dated January 22, 1855, when Rachel was of Rock County, Wisconsin, town of Porter and stated that she was the widow of John who was a matross in the Revolutionary War and a pensioner under the 1855 act. She married John on March 3, 1840 at *Somerville, NY as Rachel Rosa. John then died March 19, 1848, *Somerville, NY. On September 12, 1820, John was of Homer, Cortland County, NY and aged 57 years. The family consisted of a wife named Olive and Catherine V., aged 19 and Nancy Crout age 16. Note: It appears that Rachel was the second wife for earlier John was married to Olive and the children were apparently of that marriage. *Believe this is Summer Hill which is west of Homer, New York.

William Vermilyea<sup>4</sup>, (Peter Martin<sup>3</sup>, Isaac Corssen<sup>2</sup>, Johannes<sup>1</sup>) born February 14, 1762 at Cortland, Westchester County, New York, married first Cynthia Simons/Seamons who was born about 1765, probably at Cortland, Westchester County, New York, died prior to January 21, 1831 (per her sister's probate record) could be at Moreau, Saratoga County, New York. He married second February or March 1833 Roxie Meacham who was born about 1801, died January __, or February 5/25, 1852 at Clyde, Wayne County, New York. He died December 25, 1851 at Clyde, Wayne County, New York. Could be

From Military History of Wayne County at Ancestry.com: Reported by Sylvester H. Clark of Clyde: William Ver Millier, a Revolutionary War Soldier, who died in Gaylen April, 1851 and was buried in the “White School House Cemetery” two miles north of Clyde. In the corrections section of this publication it is noted that Ver Millier should be Vermilyea.

Per Source Code #28, 29, file #S14, 764 (There are 51 images, pages in this file, including the names and birthdates of his youngest children). On September 18, 1832, a resident of Scipio, Cayuga County, NY and age 66, he stated that he entered the service from Stephentown, Westchester County, NY and served in the Battle of White Plains and then was discharged at Pines Bridge after two years and six months of service. He died at Clyde, Wayne County, NY December of 1851. His widow, Roxie Meacham died also at Clyde in January of 1852. Children mentioned are William, Washington, Caroline, and Jefferson.

Source Code #44: It is believed that the Revolutionary War Veteran whose records are in the National Archives name William Vermilyea, born February 14, 1762 at Cortland, Westchester County, New York is my Great-great-great grandfather. His records indicate he served in the light dragoons commanded by Captain John Pickney. In 1832 he applied for his pension. In these same records a person gives evidence that William had two brothers that served in the same group with him. Riker lists brothers to William as Philip, Peter, John and Abraham. He enlisted in the military at a very young age and served for about 2.5 years. He was wounded twice. Once with a saber and was shot under the arm. Since Jacob was born in 1804 and William was discharged in 1782, it would appear that he got married after the Revolutionary War. It is a mystery as to what happens to his first wife, but after applying for and receiving his pension in 1832 he marries Roxie Meacham in 1833. He is apparently in his 70's and she is a bit younger than William's son Jacob. One of those giving evidence on the pension request for his dependent children after William's death mentions the large attention that the difference in the ages made when the two were married. William and Roxie went on to have and raise five children. Not withstanding the huge difference in their ages, they died almost exactly two months apart.

On January 8, 1857 William VanWarter a (Counselor of the Court at Syracuse, New York) Guardian of Washington, William And Caroline Vermilyea filled under the Land Bounty Act stating that the son Jackson Vermilyea was also under 20 years of age on March 3, 1855 at the time the Land Bounty Act was passed and had made no previous claim. William VanWarter was appointed as Guardian April 28, 1856. It is not clear what the outcome was. In 1856 Jacob Wright filed a deposition to support their claim and stated they were all living at Clyde, New York, but no record can be found of them there at that time. Caroline Vermilye is not located after 1850, she is last know to be living as of January 8, 1857. These files do not indicate who these children are living with.

Lot No. 130. A Civil War - 9th New York Heavy Artillery veteran's heavily carved tapering walking stick with U.S. flag inscriptions such as "We Stand by the Flag" and "In God We Trust". Presentation inscription: "To Jackson Vermilyer, By An Old Vet Edwin. H. Smith., July 4th 1888" is placed on a ribbon which wraps around shaft; other deep relief carvings include anchors, stars, and crosses. Andrew J. Vermilyer, a native of Williamstown, New York and his mate Edwin B. Smith, a Lyons native, both served as privates in Co. B. of the 9th New York Heavy Artillery. Both mustered in within days of each other and were mustered out together in July of 1865. The 9th served in defense of Washington and like many other artillery units were called up by Grant to serve in the Wilderness Campaign. They suffered heavy loses in the Wilderness and at Cold Harbor, then fought again in the Shenandoah Valley, Petersburg, and Fort Fisher, ending the war at Appomattox. Death Certificate on file.

Mrs. Andrew J. Vermilyer --- Mrs. Catherine Vermilyer, widow of Andrew J. Vermilyer, died at her home on Spencer street in this village on Sunday November 9, 1924. Mrs. Vermilyer was born in Lyons, December 7, 1844 and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bloss of Lyons.

After her marriage to Mr. Vermilyer she and her husband made their home in Alton but for the past twenty years they resided in Lyons. Mr. Vermilyer was a veteran of the Civil War. He died about four years ago.

Mrs. Vermilyer was a woman of fine character, and a devoted member of the Methodist Episcopal church and was always active in its affairs as long as her health permitted. She had been in failing health for about a year.

The surviving relatives are a number of nephews and nieces.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon a two o'clock at the late residence, Rev. W. Scott Tompkins of the Methodist Episcopal church officiating. Burial was made in Elmwood Cemetery. The Lyons Republican, Lyons, New York, November 4, 1924.

Fatal Railroad Accident --- One man Killed and Two Badly Injured --- The freight train going west this morning came into collision with a work train near Savannah. The work train was backing up at the time of the collision, and the tender was thrown upon the locomotive, killing one man instantly and injuring two others so that they are not expected to survive. The name of the deceased was Hartwell Starke, formerly of Baldwinsville, where he has relatives residing. He was Engineer on the work train. David Burnham the Conductor, and Washington Vermilyea the fireman on the work train, were so badly injured that their lives were despaired of.

The passenger train left here this forenoon was detained for some time on account of the obstruction of the wreck on the track.

Later --- Dispatches by the R. R. Telegraph report that Mr. Starke, the Engineer, is not dead, but both legs are badly broken. The report of his death arose from the fact of his being buried under the rubbish of the wreck and being missing for a considerable time. The fireman, Mr. Vermilyea, is dead, however, and Mr. Burnham, the Conductor, is injured about the head. Hopes are now entertained of the recovery of both of the injured men.

EVORY/EVERY/AVERY

According to the 1800 Federal Census, Obadiah Evory (rendered in the Census as "Obediah Avery") was then residing at Bristol (now known as the Town of Broome). However, according to Martha Foland of the Stone Fort Museum (operated by the Schoharie County Historical Society) in Schoharie, New York, the southernmost part of Broome was transferred to the jurisdiction of Durham in Greene County, sometime during the first few years of the 19th Century. Therefore, Obadiah & Alche Evory had resided on the same Durham/Broome area farm from at least the year 1800, when their son John is recorded as having been born at Durham. After the Revolutionary War, in the late 1780's, veterans were given land grants rather than pensions, since the American government had no money at that time. Many New Yorkers moved north to Greene, Delaware and Schoharie Counties in the late 1780's and the 1790's. Source Code #633.

1850 Federal Census New York, Greene, Durham: James Avery, age 40, farmer, born New York; Margaret, age 40, born New York; Anna, age 15; James, Jr., age 11; Obadiah, age 75, Alche, age 77; Peter, age 55, all born New York.

File Box A, County Clerk's office, Delhi, New York State – *administration papers* of William who died 12 April 1803 signed by Edward and Phebe Vermilya. This is an inventory of goods, chattels and credits. His belongings, mostly farm animals, equipment, flat irons, spinning wheel and household items. He held several notes, two from Jesse Vermilya. The only other family mentioned is Edward Vermilya and Phebe Vermilya, their relationship is not noted. She did not sign her name, but made her mark.

Source Code #40: If younger than the accepted brother John, who says he was born in 1755, and younger than his sister Sarah, he was born about 1759, and hence was only about eighteen years of age at the time of his marriage to Phebe Hustis, as Edward their eldest child was born in Sept., 1777. He died in Delaware County, N. Y. in the early part of 1803, as letters of administration were granted his widow and their son Edward, April 12th of that year. She died in the same county in May, 1839, as stated in a letter, in June, 1842 from her son Samuel to our uncle John C. Vermilya. The time of their removal to Delaware county is not known, but it was probably prior to the date of his father's will in 1782, which might account for his not being one of his executors instead of his younger brother Abraham.

Source Code #42: William and Phoebe Hustead Vermilye married at Roxbury, New York. Lived during the Revolutionary War at Harlem, New York; from there they moved to Peekskill Landing, settled near Round Pond or Hyot's Plains; from there they moved north into Delaware County, took up a farm in the town of Roxbury. After a few years he died from the effects of a broken leg.

DAR file #337661 states he served as a private for the Colonial Army during the Revolutionary War.

Source Code #106: Much research was done by letters to different War Department offices etc. concerning the military or pension records of this William Vermilya. The records show that he served in the Revolutionary War, rank not shown, in Captain Hazekiah Mead's and Captain Scribaner's Company, Colonel Ludington's Regiment, New York Militia. Neither the date of his entry into service or separation there from is shown. No file was found relating to claim based upon the Revolutionary War service of this William Vermilya.

There is a John Vermilya enumerated with Avery Vermilya in 1850 at Owego, Tioga County, New York. John is listed age 62, born New York no occupation. It could be that Phebe, Charity (wife of John's brother Abram and Susan (wife of John's brother Solomon) are sisters. Their parents could be Levi and Phebe (Robinson) Mullinex living at Roxbury, New York in 1810 or John and Mercy Mullinex -- there are several John Mullinex or similar spellings listed on the 1810 Federal Census at Roxbury, New York. All are living close to the Vermilya brothers, next door in the case of John Vermilya. It must be noted that there are numerous spelling of this surname, and at this time no proof can be found as to the parentage of any of these ladies.

VAIL

Maretje/Mary Vermilye<sup>4</sup>, (Frederick<sup>3</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>, Johannes<sup>1</sup>) born about 1765, married in 1783 Job, son of Caleb and Hannah (Horton) Vail (also shown as Veal) who was born August 29, 1757 near Kingsbridge, New York, died March 17, 1825 at his home at New Berlin, Chenango County, New York. She died April 10, 1829, buried Scribner Cemetery, New Berlin, New York. Source Codes #64 and #362.

Job Vail was described as a "miller of Westchester." He was a witness, along with his wife's cousin, Edward Vermilye, to the will of Solomon Hustis of Phillips Manor (Yonkers) on July 6, 1782. Job does not appear in the 1790 Census as the head of a family; therefore, either someone failed to count him or he left his family (wife and three babies) with his father at Frederickstown while he went west looking for a new home; which would account for the household of twelve under Caleb in the 1790 Census. There is evidence that he eventually found a place about three or four years later which was located about three miles south of New Berlin. Between 1790 and about 1794, he had stopped at Columbus long enough to build a home, gristmill and a sawmill. Later, he built another gristmill and sawmill along the Unadilla River next to his farm. Job's first house was a log cabin, but when he was able to saw lumber, he built a frame home which with some enlarging was used by his descendants for many years later. In one write-up, Job is said to have been "tainted" with Toryism, but another says he was a miller for Washington's Army at Newburgh. He did not serve in the army because he, like his father, was a Quaker and millers and Quakers were exempt from serving. On March 23, 1820, he made his will leaving his realty jointly to his sons Frederick and Isaac; but, on August 20, 1821 he made a codicil dividing it; leaving the house, barn, 105 acres and 1/2 of the mill to Frederick, 1/2 of the mill and other lands to Isaac, $5 to Polly

Adams and $100 to each of the other girls. His will was probated on 14 June 1825. The will also provided for his mother Hannah. Source Code #64.

Source Code #64 also shows that Job's sister Hannah married a Vermilye; however, his first name has not been found.

- II. Peter Foster, born in 1787, married Elizabeth Romer who was born _____, died _____. He died December __, 1784, burial December 21, 1784 at Tarrytown, New York.. Children: (1) Caleb, born November 25, 1810 at Tarrytown, New York; (2) Mandana, born July 3, or April 26, 1812 at Tarrytown, New York; (3) Maria, born February 9, 1814 at Tarrytown, New York, died before 1821; (4) Christian Smith, born December 29, 1817 at Tarrytown, New York; (5) Susannah Myers, born February 7, 1819 at Tarrytown, New York; (6) Maria Chasel, born June 12, 1821 at Tarrytown, New York. It is interesting that a child named Susannah Meyers is listed in this family as Jacob Meyer Vermilyea listed in his pension file a sister Elizabeth Barker. She was listed as age 79 in 1846 which says she was born in 1767, about the time this Elizabeth Barker was born????

Benjamin Vermilye<sup>4</sup>, (David<sup>3</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>, Johannes<sup>1</sup>) born 1759, married September 22, 1781 Sarah Downing who was born about 1762, died _____. He died in 1848. Source Code #10.

Source Code #83: Benjamin Vermilyea married Sara Downey September 22, 1781, at the Dutch Reformed Church, Hopewell, Dutchess County, New York.

Benjamin Vermilyea can't be located on the 1790 Federal Census for New York State. There is one Benjamin Vermilyea listed in 1800 - age 26-45, living at Unadilla, New York, however this is believed to be Benjamin #57. In 1810 there is a Benjamin Vermilyea listed at Jefferson, Schoharie County, New York, age 26-44. There are young children (all under 15) in the household. If born in 1759 Benjamin would be 51 years old.

Rensselaerwyck Manor Papers, Leases 1630-1899: Vermelie, Benjamin Lease of farm at Elizabethtown, 154 acres. May 3, 1790. Vermelie, Benjamin Deed of farm at Elizabethtown, 154 acres. May 22, 1792. While it can't be confirmed that this Benjamin Vermilya is the one mentioned in this record, it can be assumed that since his family was in the area and he is the only Benjamin of age to lease property in 1790 this is possible. John Vermilya is also listed in this same record lease at Rensselaerville. #75?? Vermilya, John - Lease of farm, Lot 361, Rensselaerville, 173 acres. November 7, 1793. Released to Jonathan Wood, December 1, 1795; William Van Leuven, October 16, 1796; Timothy Lord, November 15, 1798; and Gerrit Barrackman. Vermilya, John Deed of farm, Lot 361, Rensselaerville, 173 acres. January 15, 1799. Vermilyea, John Conveyance of farm, Lot 361, Rensselaerville to Gideon Smith. February 17, 1795. There are no Vermily__ families listed in Rensselaerville in 1790. The first listing on census records for Albany County is 1800 David Vermilyea #74, brother of Benjamin and John.

Note History of the Rensselaerwyck Manor, more information is available at <http://www.nysl.nysed.gov/msscfa/sc7079.htm#renss>

The Manuscripts and Special Collections unit of the New York State Library owns an extensive collection of land records covering the Rensselaerwyck Manor, an area that once included large portions of Albany and Rensselaer counties.

The Van Rensselaer family held rights, dating back to the seventeenth century, to most all land in this area. These rights included the collection of ground rent, that is, rent paid annually, usually in commodities such as bushels of wheat, to the agents of the patroon, the head of the family. In 1785 Stephen Van Rensselaer (1764-1839) inherited the family rights to the Manor and it became necessary to determine the extent of these land holdings. Job Gilbert and John E. and Evert Van Alen were hired to survey and map the entire Manor.

The Hudson River divided Rensselaerwyck into the East Manor and the West Manor. The East Manor lands included all of Rensselaer County south of Lansingburgh, Schaghticoke, Pittstown, and Hoosick. The East Manor was divided into areas known as Elizabethtown (Brunswick), Philiptown (Nassau), Roxborough (Grafton), Greenbush, Schodack, Stephentown, Middletown, and Little Hoosick. Middletown included chiefly the eastern portions of the present towns of Poestenkill and Sand Lake and the western portion of Berlin. Little Hoosick encompassed the present town of Petersburg and the eastern portion of Berlin. Troy was part of the Manor but is not covered by detailed maps and surveys.

All of Albany County was included in the West Manor except the City of Albany, the southeast portion of the Town of Coeymans and the northern part of the Town of Watervliet (now the Town of Colonie). Land records for the West Manor, for the most part, only cover the present towns of Berne, Knox, Rensselaerville, and Westerlo, the other records having been destroyed in the Capitol fire of 1911.

I searched Surrogate Court files of all Snyders and made notations. Henry Snyder who married Hannah Vermilya had children John, Philip. David, Adam, Betsy Weam and Julia Skeran as survivors. Source Code #712.

I examined the will of Henry Snyder held in a book separate from his estate file. You were correct Henry was a son. However Julia was a widow of George Shear and had a son Henry M. Reynolds which I presume was from a 1st marriage. Betsey was married to John I. Weam or Weauen or some combination. Source Code #712.

The Henry Snyder living at Rensselaerville, Albany County in 1800 is living next door to a Henry Lawson, a name that also connects to the Vermilyea family. There are 19 pages of this census. Henry Snyder is on page 2, Andrew P. Lawson (whose daughter married a Vermilyea) is on page 4 and David Vermilyea #74 -- the elder (age 45+) is on page 6. David is known to have two daughters Hannah and Elizabeth, there are two young females listed on the 1800 census. It may be that David had a sister Hannah. There are no females listed in the family of his parents, however this information would be from 1750 time frame, before Census Records began. All the sons (4) are accounted for.

Henry Snyder appears on the 1853-1856 Index to Testators, Albany County, Westerlo. NY-1-15-117. 1820 Federal Census living at Westerloo, also on the same census is Gilbert, David and Joseph Vermilya, census in alphabetical listing, so can't tell if they lived close.
