James Vermilyea, (Unknown) born early 1800's up to 1820??? in New Jersey, married about 1839 Caroline Crane who was born about 1821 in New Jersey, probably died or left the family about 1848-1849 in New Jersey. She died _____. Source: following records.

There are no census listings earlier than 1840 for New Jersey. No James on the 1840 Census. John Vermilyea #419, 6th Generation is listed at Essex, Newark in 1840. There is a Hetty Vermilyea listed at Essex, Rahway. John's wife's name is Harriet, but it appears there is a female of her age in his household in 1840??? John was born in 1819 and is not the father of this James, he has one son 5 years of age or under in 1840. 1850 Federal Census New Jersey, Essex, Newark, West Ward: Caroline Vermilyea, age 29, born New Jersey; Robert, age 10, born New Jersey, attending school; Oscar, age C/12 ??, born New Jersey. John Wagner age 45, born Germany, painter and family living one side, 891- 1307 is Abraham Becham, age 26, shoemaker, born New Jersey, wife Ellen, age 21, born New York, Francis, age 3, male, born New Jersey. Caroline is living at 891-1308 and Wagner is living at 892-1309. So it could be that Caroline is in the same building as the Bechams. In 1850 Harriet Vermilyea wife of John and their children are listed at Essex, Newark, New Jersey, A relationship between these families can not be established.

Children:

- G1. Robert, born about 1840 in New Jersey. Not located after 1850.
- G2. Oscar, born about 1850 in New Jersey, married about 1888 Elizabeth Reese who was born June 1862/June 8, 1860 in Pennsylvania, died May 22, 1904 at Manhattan, New York. He died April 9, 1917 at Manhattan, New York. They are buried Hollywood Cemetery, Harrington, Kent County, Delaware. No record of children located.
1860 Federal Census New Jersey, Essex, Newark, Ward 7: Osca Vermilia, age 10, born 1849 in New Jersey. He is living in the household of John and Catherine McCail, ages 30 and 32, born Ireland. It appears they have two children of their own, and over 30 other young children in same household -- looks like children's home. Not located on the 1870 Federal Census. 1880 Federal Census New Jersey, Essex, Newark: Oscar Vermilyea, age 29, born New Jersey, parents born New Jersey, metal japaner. He is living with John J. Conklin, age 45, jewelry maker, born New York, parents born New York; Mary J., wife, age 49, born New Jersey, parents born New Jersey and other boarders. 1900 Federal Census New York, New York, Manhattan; Oscar E. Father: James; Mother: Caroline Crane, both born US. Buried Harrington Cemetery, Harrington, Delaware, died French Hospital, Res. 720 West 181st, Manhattan. French Hospital is the old name for a hospital on 30th street in Manhattan.
Since the location and age of Oscar changed from 1880 to 1900, I did a check of all possible Oscar Vermilyea's in 1860, 1870 and 1880 and came up with no Oscar V born in Pennsylvania.
Oscar could be the musician that wrote Helitrope Quick Step published in the Trenton Evening Times, December 20, 1895. There is no explanation about the reason the music is published there, no details.
Elizabeth Vermilye, died May 22, 1904, age 34, Student, lived in NYC 19 years, spinal meningites, residence 816 Broadway, married, buried Harrington, Delaware May 25, 1904. Certificate #19598, Film #1323052.
